

25 Writing Prompts to Spark Your Creativity

1. Write about a character who discovers a hidden room in their house.
2. Describe a day in the life of someone who can hear people's thoughts.
3. Your character receives a letter from their future self. What does it say?
4. A storm traps your character in a library overnight. What do they find?
5. Write about a town where no one tells the truth.
6. Your main character wakes up with no memory—and a strange tattoo.
7. Explore a story set in a world where dreams can be recorded and watched.
8. Write about someone who finds a phone that texts them clues to solve crimes.
9. Your protagonist inherits a lighthouse with a mysterious past.
10. Tell a story where the villain is the narrator.

11. Write about a friendship between two people who've never met in person.
12. Imagine a world where colors represent emotions everyone can see.
13. Your character finds an old photo album—and they're in photos from 100 years ago.
14. Create a tale where time stops for everyone except one person.
15. A letter arrives at your door, addressed to someone who doesn't exist—yet.
16. Write about a road trip that changes everything.
17. Your character wakes up in a city where no one speaks their language.
18. A child's imaginary friend comes to life—but isn't what they expected.
19. Describe a moment that changes a character's destiny forever.
20. A stranger gives your character a key and says, "You'll need this soon."
21. Write from the perspective of an object passed through generations.
22. Your character discovers their dreams predict real events.
23. A ghost follows your protagonist—but not for the reason they think.

24. Write about a reunion between two people who never thought they'd meet again.

25. Describe a place that only exists at sunrise.